Everybody Has a Story, and These Are Mine... Mar 29 2022 Oscar Wilde once wrote that, "Life imitates Art far more than Art imitates Life." And that is just what you'll find in this delightful collection of autobiographical and fiction stories from Ginny Graham. When you step into her world you'll find that her real life experiences are just as interesting, just as surprising, and just as charming as her fiction. Ginny claims that her mission in life is to have fun, and that's just what this book brings to its readers. The first part includes entertaining, sometimes hilarious stories from Ginny's experiences as an actress, mother of eight, foster parent and wife of the love of her life. The second, a sampling of her "happily ever after" fiction that leaves you feeling hopeful that everything really does have a way of working out in the end.

World Economic and Financial Surveys Sep 22 2021 This paper discusses commodity prices might serve as a useful leading indicator of inflation, based on the relative importance of flexible auction markets for the determination of these prices. They thus may have a tendency to respond relatively quickly, especially in response to monetary disturbances. Estimation of alternative commodity-price indexes, in which the weights are chosen so as to minimize the residual variance in aggregate inflation regressions, was not fully successful. The commodity prices do have a useful role to play as an aid in predicting inflation, so long as one is careful to interpret the relationships qualitatively and in the context of more general macroeconomic developments. The ratio of consumer to commodity price movements' changes over time, and the relative price of commodities undergoes long sustained swings; nonetheless, the qualitative linkages are quite evident in the data. Perhaps most importantly, turning points in commodity-price inflation frequently precede turning points in consumer-price inflation for the large industrial countries as a group.

Blade-Mounted Trailing Edge Flap Control for Bvi Noise Reduction* May 19 2021 Numerical procedures based on the 2-D and 3-D full potential equations and the 2-D Navier-Stokes equations were developed to study the effects of leading and trailing edge flap motions on the aerodynamics of parallel airfoil-vortex interactions and on the aerodynamics and acoustics of the more general self-generated rotor blade vortex interactions (BVI). For subcritical interactions, the 2-D results indicate that the trailing edge flap can be used to alleviate the impulsive loads experienced by the airfoil. For supercritical interactions, the results show the necessity of using a leading edge flap, rather than a trailing edge flap, to alleviate the interaction. Results for various time dependent flap motions and their effect on the predicted temporal sectional loads, differential pressures, and the free vortex trajectories are presented. For the OLS model rotor, contours of a BVI noise metric were used to quantify the effects of the trailing edge flap on the size and directivity of the high/low intensity noise region(s). Average reductions in the BVI noise levels on the order of 5 dB with moderate power penalties on the order of 18 pct. for a four bladed rotor and 58 pct. for a two bladed rotor were obtained.
